PROCEDURES WITHIN THE CHAMBERS

1. Only coaches and experienced judges may judge in the championship chambers. The judges assigned to the chambers will be assigned in groups of three. All three will serve as judges and parliamentarians. The judges will be responsible for assigning seats and taking attendance based on the seating chart prepared by the Tab Room.
2. The judges will then conduct an election for Presiding Officer for that session only. Students may be nominated or may nominate themselves. Each nominee will be given an opportunity to present a brief statement in support of his/her candidacy. Each person within the chamber may cast one vote for a presiding officer. Voting will continue, dropping the lowest vote getter(s), until one person receives a majority. Voting for the second and third session Presiding Officer will occur at the beginning of those sessions.
3. Debate shall begin once the presiding officers have been selected. All three judges must be present for debate to begin. Once procedural issues at the beginning of the session are completed, the P.O. will calculate the remaining time for debate in the session. The maximum amount of time the chamber may spend on any legislation will be one half of that remaining time, rounded up to the nearest minute.
 - A. Each session will be its own legislative day, with no bills carrying over to the next session. All debated bills will be voted on at the end of each session. If a bill is tabled and has not been debated, it may carry over to the next session. Once a speech has been given on a bill, it must be tabled or voted upon by the end of the session and cannot be removed from the table in a later session.
4. Debate on each bill will begin with a request for a three-minute sponsorship speech. Any debater from any school may give the sponsorship speech. Following the delivery of the first "pro" speech, the chair will ask for a speech in opposition to the bill. All speeches will be three-minutes in length. This alternating process of three-minute speeches will continue until the time limit expires. Following all speeches, a two-minute rapid-fire question and answer period will be held. The time clock will run continuously during the question and answer period.
5. At the beginning of the questioning period, the Presiding Officer will select two representatives and announce them at the same time. The first representative will have one minute to ask the speaker as many questions as s/he chooses within the time frame. At the immediate conclusion of the minute, the first representative's questions/responses will stop and the Presiding Officer will ask the second questioner to begin his/her direct questioning. At the end of the two minutes of questioning, all questions/responses will stop.
 - A. A maximum of one minute of direct questioning per questioner is allowed. Questioners who do not use the entire one-minute will forfeit any time remaining.
6. Tab room will provide judges and Presiding Officers with a record of the number of speeches given by each person in the chamber during previous session(s), Presiding Officer(s) in previous session(s) will be recorded as given the number of speeches equal to the top point getter or the person with the greatest number of speeches in the session, whichever is greater. The judges and Presiding Officer must consider the cumulative number of speeches (irrespective of speaking order) in determining who is eligible for the next speech.
 - A. A legislator may not speak on both sides of the same legislation.
 - B. A speaker who speaks contrary to the pro/con sequence will receive a score of zero for that speech.
8. Voting on all matters will be one person one vote.
9. The members of a chamber may NOT suspend the rules to alter the order of debate.
10. None of the above rules may be suspended.
11. Voting Procedures: In the case of needing a majority vote, 51% of those on the seating chart must vote in favor to pass. In the case of needing a 2/3 majority vote, it will be 2/3 of those on the seating chart. In case of ties, the Presiding Officer may vote to break the tie.
12. Electronic devices MAY be used in the chambers during committees or sessions by the congress participants and judges. Neither speakers nor questioners may use electronic devices while speaking or questioning.

JUDGES' RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Judges will be responsible for evaluating all speeches. All three judges will score all speeches. A judge from a student's school can write a ballot, however the average of the two other judge points will be assigned as the score from this judge and will be assigned in the tab room.
2. The judges will keep track of the participation of members of the chamber for purposes of fairness. Congressional Ethos points WILL be assigned.
 - A. Prior to each individual session, the judges in each session will confer with one another about their expectations for "Congressional Ethos." Judges will introduce their shared "Congressional Ethos" expectations to each chamber each session. The oversight committee together will provide guidelines in the form of a Congressional Ethos Statement prior to the tournament.
 - i. Judges shall award participation points to each member of the chamber following each session. Those points may range from 0-1 and shall be based on "Congressional Ethos." A student who does not participate should receive a '0'. A student on the seating chart who is absent should be marked with a '0'.
 - ii. Congressional Ethos scores will be given to Presiding Officers.
3. The judges, acting as a majority, shall be the ultimate authorities on parliamentary procedure and fairness in recognizing speakers and questioners. They shall have the power and the responsibility to correct or overturn a decision of the Presiding Officer.
4. At the end of every session, each judge will nominate two speakers, not from his own school, who represent the best overall legislators for the session. The judges must not confer.
5. The Presiding Officer's score shall be capped at the maximum number of speeches during that session. If speakers have spoken a maximum of once, the three judges' scores shall be averaged to result in one Presiding Officer score out of 6 points. If the maximum number of speeches is two or greater, both judges' scores will comprise the P.O.'s score out of 12 points. The P.O.'s score may exceed the highest speaker's score.
6. Judges will conduct elections for Outstanding Legislation at the end of the third session. All legislation that was debated and voted upon within the chamber will be eligible for consideration. Each person in the chamber will be allowed one vote per committee. The chamber votes will be combined across chambers to determine a 1st place award in legislation from each committee.
7. Judges will conduct elections for best Presiding Officer at the end of the third session. Each person in the chamber will be allowed one vote. The winning candidate must receive a simple majority of the votes cast. If no person earns a simple majority, the candidate who receives the lowest vote total will be dropped from consideration and voting will be repeated. If the two lowest vote getters are tied, a run off between the two will occur with the lowest vote getter being dropped. Another vote will be taken between the two remaining candidates.
8. Judges will conduct elections for the Second Place and Third Place speaker Awards at the end of the third session. The tournament manager will provide the judges in each chamber with the names of participants who have been nominated by the judges for speaker awards. (The winner of the First Place Speaker Award will be deleted from balloting.) The names of all nominees will be announced, and each representative will be entitled to one vote. The winner of the Second Place Speaker Award must receive a simple majority of the votes cast. If no person earns a simple majority, the person who receives the lowest vote total (or all candidates with the same lowest total) will be dropped from consideration until such time as a candidate does obtain the required simple majority. On the balloting in which a candidate does receive a simple majority, the person with the second highest vote total will be awarded the Third Place Speaker Award. (In the event there is a tie among persons with the second highest vote total, a run-off vote for the Third Place Speaker Award will be held.)
9. A First Place Speaker Award will be given in each chamber to the debater with the highest speech average out of their top three speeches.
